FERNANDO RAMOS

Codajás, Solimões River

Pastor Supervisor: Eustáquio

SOLIMÕES RIVER

The missionary work is conducted through home gatherings, aiming to reach each neighborhood represented by members of the congregation. The internal department of the Presbyterian Children's Union (UCP) is dedicated to teaching God's Word to children, using illustrated stories, children's songs, and theatrical plays as teaching tools.

The missionary is originally from Codajás, single, and trained at the Missionary Training Center (CTM). He was called by God to serve in this field and works under the support and supervision of Pastor Rogério Trindade, who leads ministry efforts in the neighboring city of Anori.

Missionary Area

The mission also extends to the riverside communities along the Badajós River, where significant progress has been made, especially with the support of the Amazon Outreach team sent by the Lord of the Harvest.

Field Challenges

The main challenge is the lack of transportation, which limits access to more distant communities.

Prayer Requests

- For continued missionary progress in Codajás and the Badajós River communities;
- For resources and solutions regarding transportation;
- For the spiritual life and strengthening of the missionary and the local church.
